THE TWENTIETH CENTURY CRUSADERS.

THEIR OBJECTS.

STATEMENT BY GENERAL BETHUNE.

Considerable interest has been aroused in the activities of the Most Noble Order of the Crusaders, who, recently held a commemorative service in Westminster Abbey.

The Order, secret in character, with the Unknown Warrior as Principal Knight and Supreme Head, was founded two years ago by Col. Walter Faber with five members. Among its membership of over 5,000 are many ex-Servicemen. The avowed aims of the Order are Service, Self-Sacrifice, Loyalty, and Brotherhood. Every member must be of British parentage.

The Pro-Grand Master is Col. Faber, and the principal members have been installed with titles borne by the Crusaders of old. There is a Grand Seneschal, a Grand Keeper of the Records, a Grand Custodian, and a Grand Abbot. The robes of the Order resemble those of the Hospitallers. Medieval robes with hoods denote the degrees of the office-bearers, and over the gowns are worn surcoats of white linen with the crimson Crusader's cross. Foremen of the Order wear hoods of russet brown; women hoods of green, and require steel grey. Members of the Brotherhood are required to take the following oath:

Our sword shall ever be used to the glory of God, the defence of Right, and the maintenance of Equity and Justice. Many symbols are used in the Crusaders' ceremonies, which are kept strictly secret, as is the form of initiation.

NOT FASCIST.

Asked to explain exactly what the Order stands for, Lieut.-General Sir Edward Bethune, who holds the office of Grand Keeper of the Records, said to a reporter: "In the first place, the Order is not a body of Fascists, nor has it anything in common with the Ku-Klux-Klan. It was formed with the idea of bringing a little sentiment and feeling into everyday life, and also for the purpose of getting people to live in greater harmony together. The basis of it is Chivalry. We do not mean by this term more courteousness and gentleness towards women, but the desire to do good generally and to fight what is evil. A Crusader learns to have a greater respect for himself and for his neighbour. It follows that if a man learns to be chivalrous towards his brother he will be chivalrous towards his sister—perhaps even more chivalrous. Furthermore, Crusaders swear to serve God, King, and country."

Mentioning that persons of all Christian sects could become Crusaders, Sir Edward said: "We do not however, take Jews. It must not be thought, though, that the Crusaders are opposed to Jews—that is not so in any way."

MYSTERY.

In answer to the question: Why is the Order of Crusaders a secret body? Sir Edward said: "Everybody likes a little bit of mystery and ceremony and dressing-up—but there is no secrecy about our intention to support the King and our country, and everything right and good. We are against all forms of disorder and ruffianism; against such things as have just occurred at the election meetings in Glasgow, for instance."

"Does that mean," General Bethune was asked, "that in the event of a national emergency, the Crusaders would use force on behalf of King and country?"

Sir Edward replied: "It is not our intention to become an armed force, but we have taken an oath to serve the King. I think that is enough."

General Bethune added that the Crusaders were a democratic body, although they had "an autocratic head—the Grand Conclaves," which controlled the whole movement.

WOMEN.

Members were elected on their personal merits of character, and they were required to do all good they could in their own circle.

"At present there are no women in the movement," Sir Edward said, "but I hope that they will soon be permitted to take an active part in it."

THE EX-KAISER. "EMPEROR AND KING."

A manifesto from the ex-Kaiser denying that he had any knowledge of the ex-Crown Prince's plans to return to Germany was recently received by Reuters' Doorn correspondent for publication.

Notwithstanding the fact that the ex-Kaiser abdicated in November, 1918, the manifesto is signed "William, Emperor and King." It says:

There is no wireless station here and no communication with Nauen and cipher telegrams have not been received.

The return of the Crown Prince was prepared and carried out without my knowledge. The Dutch Government, on being informed by the Crown Prince that the German Government had granted permission for him to return, raised no objection. I received a farewell letter from the Crown Prince, despatched after he had crossed the frontier.

No courier came here, as has been reported, with passports. Dr. Kan (Permanent Secretary of the Dutch Home Office), who was following his monthly custom of lunching with me, gave me the first detailed information of the negotiations with regard to the return of the ex-Crown Prince that were proceeding between the latter and the Dutch and German Governments.

I knew absolutely nothing of the movement to return the monarchy on December 4th. Had I been consulted, I should have objected to the departure of the Crown Prince for Germany at this time, when the country is divided with internal disorders.

The situation at Doorn is unchanged in definitive peace and consequent hope. (Signed) WILLIAM.

MARINE ENGINEERS SERVICES IN THE WAR

Viscount Curzon occupied the chair at the annual dinner of the Institute of Marine Engineers (of which he is president), at the Hotel Cecil on November 30th, and was supported by a large and distinguished company.

Sir Joseph Cook (High Commissioner for Australia), in proposing "The Naval, Military, and Air Forces of the Empire," said that Australia was keenly interested in the Singapore base, and every effort to increase the sum total of the effectiveness of the Empire Forces down in the Pacific would be welcomed by the people there. (Hear, hear.) They were glad to have with them that night so many great exponents of an art which was still necessary, even in these days, and was likely to be necessary for many years to come. It was better, of course, if they could submit to reason the difficulties which arose between nation and nation, but he was afraid the day was far distant when we could trust ourselves absolutely to any kind of tribunal other than that of our own right arm. (Hear, hear.) He was not one of those who believed that we should scrap all those efforts which were being made to bring about peaceful arbitration when difficulties arose, but between such efforts and peace-at-any-price there was a wide gap, and until human nature changed it would still be necessary for the strong man to arm himself in order to keep his house safe. (Hear, hear.)

Vice-Admiral Sir Hugh H. D. Tothill (Admiral Commanding Reserves), responding for the Navy, said that the Navy and the whole country recognised the vital importance of the part played by the Mercantile Marine during the late war. The Navy recognised the very special strain which was put upon marine engineers, who worked in the engine-room or the stockhold with an immense amount of responsibility on their shoulders, and never flinched though faced with sudden and terrible deaths. One result of the war had been that the Navy and the Mercantile Marine knew each other better and more closely than ever before, and it was to be hoped that in the future the two Services would get more intimate and work more and more closely together. He might mention that the Admiralty were very anxious to increase the number of commissioned engineer officers in the Royal Naval Reserve. The number at the present time was nineteen. Thirty-three more were badly wanted, and he trusted that those to whom this applied would consider whether they could not join.

Lieut.-General Sir Charles Harington, responding for the Army, said that possibly during the last few years the British word in the Near East was not so trusted as at one time, but he was glad to think that when the troops left that part of the world recently British prestige was never higher. (Hear, hear.) and this was owing to the conduct of our forces. The most wonderful humanity was displayed by them to the thousands of starving refugees, so much so that the question was raised whether steps should not be taken to stop our men from giving up so much of their food to keep other people alive. (Hear, hear.)

Admiral Mark Kerr (Deputy Chief of the Air Staff) responded for the Royal Air Force, which he described as the "Cinderella" of the Services. He mentioned that in 1917 Great Britain was faced with a crisis with which neither the Navy nor the Army were able to deal. Information was received to the effect that the Germans were contemplating a gigantic bombing raid on London, but the attack was frustrated by our own Air Force, which attacked the factories where huge machines were being built and the squadrons which were assembling. (Hear, hear.)

"The Shipbuilding Industries and Mercantile Marine," submitted by the Chairman, was acknowledged by Mr. J. H. Scrutton (chairman of Lloyd's Register of Shipping) and Captain Sir H. Acton Blake (Deputy Master, Trinity House).

"NINE O'S"

GERMANY CEASES TO WRITE THE NOUGHTS.

The Berlin correspondent of the Observer writes:—

From the economic point of view Germany has suffered her worst disappointment since the dollar rose to heights where thoughts are no longer written but marked simply "nine o's" after the now palmy days of the "six o's." The permanent value currency in which the civil servants and the working man have been receiving part of their pay will buy them no more than a paper billion's worth for one paper gold-mark; which, for some ten days now has meant, for one billion, two loaves, or three eggs, or six daily newspapers in Berlin.

This is because the agrarians and wholesale dealers refuse to credit the mark at its fictitious inland value at the same time as they demand it in payment for their wares from the retailers, so that a paper gold mark, once handed over the counter, never appears in circulation again. The erst-while owner feels cheated at receiving the older form of paper in exchange, but can do nothing against the practice.

"Prices in 'gold-marks' are from four to five times their pre-war level. This may be partly accounted for by the above attitude towards the fictitious exchange-rate, and partly by decreased consumption and the retailer's anxiety to make up for it. But as wages are being fixed at very much below pre-war level, owing to increased cost of living on the part of employers all round, Germans are waking up to the fact that as soon as inflation ceases altogether and the paper billion makes way entirely for the paper one-mark bill, their individual poverty might satisfy even the sternest of French creditors. Practically fifty per cent. of employees and shop-assistants are under the legal six weeks' term of notice for the first of January.

(FROM A "TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.)

The Peking Correspondent of The Times reported recently that, if not granted a share of the Customs surplus, the Canton authorities proposed to declare all ports in the Kwangtung Province free, a step which would mean their taking control of Customs administration on a wholesale scale. Sun Yat Sen now threatens to seize the Customs House at Canton and appropriate the revenue.

Both from financial and political points of view that is highly-unwelcome news. For the Customs revenue, as holders of Chinese bonds are aware, is the security for a number of gold loans, while the cessation through force majeure of its collection by foreigners would compel our Government to choose between defending and abandoning all our rights in China.

The Chinese Customs Service is in many ways one of the most interesting in the world. It is anomalous and in some respects unique. There is no other flag quite so bizarre as the one under which it operates. Both by origin and constitution the Service is the symbol of cosmopolitanism in China. Until China joined the Allies in 1917, when Germans and Austrians were turned out of the Service, its ranks represented most of the Powers, great and small, and its Shanghai office, which is its largest, could have produced fluent masters of most modern languages.

Officially bilingual, English and Chinese, the Service originated in the decision of two English-speaking officials and a Frenchman to do for China what she could not do for herself. That was in 1854, when the Tientsin rebels held Shanghai and the 8 per cent. import duties agreed upon 12 years before could not be collected because there were no Chinese officials to do the work. So the British, American, and French Consuls arranged with the Chinese magistrate to appoint three foreigners to do it for them.

Today the Service numbers over 1,000 foreigners recruited from Europe, America, and Japan, distributed between 50 Treaty ports, and all appointed and controlled by a Briton, Sir Francis Aglen.

He rules the Service from Peking, his seat in a large, walled garden in the middle of the Legation Quarter, which ever since the Boxer rising has resembled an old-fashioned fort, for it is all grey walls and guarded gateways. The servant of a Republican Government, the Inspector-General, as he is called, is one of the most powerful autocrats in the East.

THE PERSONNEL

And he is served by a body of men of the most heterogeneous kind, a body that includes all sorts and conditions, varying from the public school and university type to the hard-bitten campaigner of many lands. They are divided into two classes, indoor and outdoor, the former recruited in London, the latter mostly locally in China. The former do the clerical work; the latter deal direct with ships and cargo, supervise China's harbours, and look after all her coastlights. They have Chinese employees to help them, some 5,000 or more.

Accident put the Service under British control—the fact that of the three men who began it in 1854 only the Englishman could speak Chinese, and when in the following year he was called to Peking it was natural that his successors should be British. Thus the post came to the late Sir Robert Hart, who gave the Service its present form, dividing its ranks into Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, and Assistants; ruling them all with a rod of iron; inspiring them with a common purpose and point of view; and welding them into a body whose esprit de corps transcends all the dissimilarities of national origin, temperament, and outlook.

He did this through the medium of circular letters, which now run into lengthy series and form a body of Customs practice and law. Some of Sir Robert's letters are worth quoting. Here is an example of one of the disciplinary class, written just before one of his few absences on furlough. It runs:—

"During my absence from China, no Commissioner is to leave his post, neither is leave of absence to be granted to any clerk, linguist, or tide-surveyor, no matter for how short a time, save under circumstances of extreme necessity. . . . You will have the goodness to inform the clerks in your office that, on my return from Europe, I shall by personal examination inform myself of the acquaintance possessed by each of them with Customs business generally."

Here is another example of this class:— "Some employees who have barely earned their pay and who have not been advanced so rapidly as others have displayed a tendency to take things easily, supposing that length of service will be accepted as an excuse for increasing shortcomings, and that their position is 'old hands' is too secure to be unsettled. I think it is well that those referred to should wake up a little. It must not be thought that because the Customs is a Government Department once in it is to be always in it."

Other circulars defined the position of the Service in the Chinese administrative system. In one Sir Robert wrote:— "It is not the aim of the Inspector-General—a Chinese and not a foreign Service—to oust the officials the Chinese Government appoints, and it is its duty to work with them amicably and locally. . . . Do not slight or ignore the native authority. Remember that, although colleagues, and meeting on a footing of equality, the foreigner is, after all, only the temporary guest, while the native is the standing and locally responsible official."

LOCAL TRADE REVIEW OF 1923.

COTTON, PIECE-GOODS AND FANCY COTTON GOODS.

The past year has been a fairly prosperous one for Importers and Dealers. Great changes have taken place in regard to the Fancy Trade. The old figured and Plain Poplin business appears to be a dead letter, against which a very considerable turnover has been done in all kinds of Fancy Woolsens. A review of this trade will appear in a separate issue.

The turnover in Staples (i.e., Grey and White Shirtings) shows a substantial improvement on 1922, and the same applies to sales of Fancy Goods, the designs and shades of which are constantly changing. It is highly dangerous in these days to carry unsold stocks of the latter.

A CLASSIC

But the classic formulation of Sir Robert Hart's Service philosophy, the one which has made the Service a faithful instrument of the Chinese, is the following:—

"We are working for a people with whom we can hardly be said to have anything in common—a people whose ideas of supremacy contrast strangely with national weakness, and whose intense pride is as much beyond available knowledge, but who, if they have not national strength, have a curious hold on national life, and, if poor in respect of what the West styles knowledge, are indubitably rich in the possession of thrift, industry, contentment, and common place wisdom."

"The opinion of those we live among and understand so little has very generally been that all foreigners are beneath notice and that we, of the Service, are simply so many individuals who may be utilized in their dealings with our countrymen; but, whatever liking they may have for us as being their assistants, they do not by any means intend that the position should be reversed and that we should dictate to them while we draw their pay."

That was written years before the Boxer rising, resulted in the Customs becoming a security for an indemnity and before China had borrowed money on a large scale, pledging the revenue of the Customs as security for its repayment. Sir Robert Hart, were he alive to-day, would be the first to advise the Chinese not to interfere with a security with which, hitherto, all the leading Powers have been satisfied, and the administration of which has been efficient, loyal, and fair. The foreigners who draw their pay under the Chinese flag are the best friends China has.

CENTRAL BRITISH SCHOOL FIRST ANNUAL SPORTS. YOUTHFUL COMPETITOR MEETS WITH AN ACCIDENT.

The first annual sports of the Central British School, Kowloon, held yesterday afternoon at the Kowloon Cricket Club, were marred with an accident. A youthful competitor named W. King, competing in the final heat of the high jump for boys, had the misfortune to get his legs entangled in the ropes between the upright measuring bars. He fell heavily to the ground on his right arm and he was picked up suffering great pain. There was not a doctor present at the time but the services of Dr. Wong were soon requisitioned and it was found that the boy had put out his elbow. He received every attention and was carried to the Club House. During the prize distribution he was presented by Lady Severn with a cup as winner of the event in which he had competed and later when he was carried away he was greeted with a volley of roaring applause by his schoolmates.

Otherwise the sports were an unqualified success. The competitions were keenly contested; there was a good attendance of spectators, the events were well organised by the officials and the Club ground, kindly lent for the occasion, made an admirable meeting place.

The main incentive towards keen competition was that the school is divided into houses and competitors strive hard to bring honour to the houses to which they belonged. The final results in this connection were as follows:—

Boys, Nathan House, 29 pts.; May House, 23 pts.; and Luard House, 22 pts.

Girls, St. George's House, 31 pts.; Bede House, 15 pts.; and St. Dunstan's, 13 pts.

Sir Claud Severn and Lady Severn and the Director of Education (the Hon. Mr. E. Irving) were amongst those present. During the afternoon the East Surrey Regimental Band played a delightful selection of music.

At the conclusion of the sports Lady Severn presented the prizes to the successful competitors and at the end of the proceedings became the recipient of a bouquet of flowers from the hands of little Helen Wylie. Lady Severn endeared herself to the children by announcing to the gathering that the Director of Education had accepted to her request that there should be a school to-day (Friday). Needless to state, the announcement was greeted with enthusiasm by the children.

Mr. G. F. Nightingale, speaking during the prize distribution said that the boys and girls had no desire to compete as individuals but as members of a house, each striving for the honour of their respective group. Spectators, no doubt, had noticed the keen spirit of competition shown by both juniors and seniors. Each one realised that on him or her depended the success of their house. When the question was raised of holding the sports the seniors thought that no prizes should be awarded. They thought they would be sufficiently rewarded by winning an event for their house. It was, however, decided that a small cup should be given for each championship event, to serve as a record. The time-honoured system of presenting prizes to second, third, fourth, and fifth had been dropped.

RESULTS.

100 yards championship for girls.—Senior, Phyllis Woolley; junior, E. Stewart.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

[BEFORE HIS LORDSHIP THE CHIEF JUSTICE (SIR WILLIAM REES DAVIES)].

ANOTHER HEAVY SENTENCE.

Still another exemplary sentence was ordered yesterday by the Chief Justice in a case in which a man named Cheung Wah pleaded "Guilty" to a charge of unlawfully having two daggers in his possession.

According to the Crown Solicitor (Mr. H. K. Holmes), the prisoner was stopped on the Saikong Road, Kowloon City, in company with another man, by a Chinese constable, who on realising that the man was armed blew his whistle. The prisoner knocked the whistle out of the constable's hand and attempted to prevent his being searched. The other man ran away. Another constable came to the first constable's assistance and covered the prisoner with a revolver. In the man's girdle two daggers were found, one at the front and one at the back.

The prisoner said he picked them up on a waste piece of ground.

His Lordship in ordering sentence of six years' imprisonment and twelve strokes of the "cat," described the prisoner as being "a dangerous man." I do not suppose anybody who has heard this case will have any doubt whatever that you were about to commit a crime."

SHERLOCK HOLMES AT WORK.

OIL STAINS ON SINGLET AN IMPORTANT POINT IN ARMED ROBBERY CASE.

Mineral oil stains on a singlet worn by an alleged armed robber were important factors in the case for the Crown in which a man named Chu Wing Keng, was indicted yesterday on four counts: (1) armed robbery; (2) shooting with intent to maim or disable; (3) attempting to shoot; and (4) unlawful possession of an automatic and five rounds of ammunition.

According to Mr. A. Dyer Ball's statement of the case for the Crown, the prisoner was not in possession of a fire-arm when he was arrested, but one was found near by. He was, however, wearing a singlet on which were oil stains just at the point where his girdle secured his trousers in position. The stained parts of the garment were sent for examination to the Government Analyst, who stated that the stains were those of mineral oil containing traces of iron and nitrate corresponding to the oil generally used to oil the barrel of a revolver. A conflicting point in the case, Mr. Dyer Ball said, was that the fire arm, said to be the prisoner's, had not been recently used according to a report made by Mr. Avenall, an expert. The automatic contained four rounds of ammunition one of which had been misfired, whilst another round of ammunition was found in the man's pocket.

Mr. Ball stated that an armed robbery took place at No. 145, Portland Street, ground floor, by four men. When two robbers entered the floor there were two women and one man—a husband of one of the women—on the floor. The husband managed to make his escape through the back door and he ran down the street and telephoned to the Yau-mai Police Station. On the way back to the house he met two Chinese constables and with them continued his journey to the house. Outside the house they were joined by another constable. In the meantime the two women were held up and forced into a cubicle. The robbers opened a safe and two chests of drawers and stole a quantity of jewellery. On leaving the house they were encountered by the three Chinese constables. Directly the robbers saw that they were being intercepted, one of them opened fire on the police, who took shelter and returned the fire. Nobody was hit and altogether half a dozen shots were fired by both sides. The robbers ran up Portland Street and into Shan Tung Street and thence into Shanghai Street, and it was not surprising that all trace was lost of the robbers as the streets were full of people. When the robbers left the house the constable overheard them saying in Chinese "Make them fall" apparently meaning that they had intention to do them injury.

Shortly after this Sub-Inspector Mac Walters and Sergt. Knowles arrived on the scene in a motor-car and they tried to pick up the threads of the chase. They proceeded along Canton Road to Ivy Street where there was a nullah and a light railway. The car was stopped and Sergt. Knowles got out and spoke to an Indian constable stationed there. As he did so a man came running past the head lights. Sergt. Knowles pursued him and in the chase he saw the fugitive make a downward and outward movement with his left hand. Shortly afterwards the man fell and he was arrested; he had been searched and the one round of ammunition found in his possession. Sergt. Knowles again visited the scene of the arrest and made a search and he found the automatic produced in Court.

At an identification parade one of the Chinese constables pointed out the prisoner.

Evidence was then taken, a large number of witnesses being called, and the case was adjourned.

The Jury empanelled for the case were Messrs. N. Currie (foreman), J. W. Glynn, O. J. Aroull, J. F. Barron, O. M. Oliveira, D. Harvey and A. J. Coelho.

CORONERS INQUIRY.

THE DEATH OF CAPT. NEWBY.
A VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

An inquiry into the circumstances attending the death of Captain Alfred Newby, 33, master of the s.s. Wingtai, who was found dead on the 19th December with a bullet wound through his head, was held at the Magistracy yesterday. Major C. Willson was the Coroner and the jury was composed of Messrs. Sin Mai-tai (foreman), A. L. Silva and Ip Wan-man.

Evidence was given by Sub-Inspector Bond, of the Harbour Police, to the effect that at 7.30 on the night of the 20th December, he was called on board the Wingtai by the appearance of the police flag on the mast. The Captain's boy said that his master was "very sick." In the cabin the Captain was found sitting in a chair. A wound indicated that a bullet had entered above the right ear and, passing through the head, had emerged at the left side. A revolver of .38 calibre was found lying on his lap. Life was extinct, but the body was still warm.

Dr. E. Pigott Minett, the officer in charge of the Magistracy, said the wound was consistent with the jury that might have been produced by the soft-headed bullet shown to him in the Court.

The pantry boy and cook of the Wingtai gave evidence relating to finding the Captain in his cabin. He said there had been nothing strange in the behaviour of the deceased. He did not take drinks whilst on board, though his condition on returning to the boat the night prior to his death might indicate that he had taken liquor ashore.

Mr. Samuel Butcher, in charge of the Seamen's Institute at Kowloon, said that deceased stayed at the Institute for the night of the 17th and witness accompanied him next day to the ship, and stayed on board for half-an-hour. Just before he left he heard the Captain complain that he was feeling a bit queer and was turning in.

Replying to Detective Sergeant Doring, witness said he noticed the deceased was in a "merry mood" when he came to the Institute. He had also heard the Captain mention that the steamer had pirates on board near Kowloon and that he (the deceased) had shot a pirate and thrown him overboard.

The Manager of the Tai Cheong shipping firm, of No. 8, Hillier Street, said that deceased had been in their employ for over a month and had been found satisfactory. The Company had received no report of a pirate, either from the deceased, or any member of the crew. After other evidence had been given, the jury returned the verdict that the deceased had committed suicide whilst of unsound mind.

GARAGE PROPRIETOR SUE. WAGES CLAIM FOLLOWS SUMMARY DISMISSAL.

At the Summary Court yesterday morning the Ex sued Kartar Singh, proprietor of a garage in Landale Street for $21.65, wages due, claiming that he had been summarily dismissed because he had given evidence against him.

According to Mr. C. A. St. Russ, who appeared for plaintiff, the plaintiff was engaged by the defendant on October 14th as a car washer at $10 per month. He was given half a month's pay at the end of October but was not given anything at the end of November. On December 5th the defendant was prosecuted at the Police Court by a man named Harman Singh and the plaintiff gave evidence in the latter's favour. The evidence, Mr. Russ explained, was to the effect that when Harman Singh was drunk the defendant took his finger prints and stole some promissory notes from him. The police court proceedings were dismissed, the Magistrate expressing some doubt as to the truth of the plaintiff's evidence and the same afternoon the plaintiff was summarily dismissed without being paid any wages. His claim was for wages due and a month's wages in lieu of notice.

The Puisse Judge: I suppose perjury is not a ground for dismissal.

Mr. Russ: I suppose it would be, if there were perjury. But there is no ground for it in this case except that the Magistrate had doubts.

The Puisse Judge: If an employee committed perjury it might certainly lead to a breach of the peace.

Mr. Russ: It might lead to ruin your Honour.

The defence was that while the defendant was away at Canton the plaintiff stole two batteries belonging to a car. After hearing the evidence, however, His Honour gave judgment for the claim with costs.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING UNION.

[TO THE EDITOR OF "THE HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

Sir, Captain Robert Dollar in his speech at the Hongkong Hotel on January 8th, which was reported at length in your columns of Wednesday, referred to his association with the "English-Speaking Union" London, and particularly emphasised the necessity for the formation of a similar Club or Association here in Hongkong.

Might I, through the medium of your columns, say that as a member of the "English-Speaking Union" I shall be very glad to give any information to those interested as to the aims and practical objects of this Association. Broadly speaking, the English-Speaking Union aims at increasing the knowledge of one another possessed by the English-speaking peoples. It aims at no formal alliance, but is merely an attempt to promote good-fellowship and understanding among the English-speaking democracies of the world.

There are two Headquarters organisations—one in the British Empire and one in the United States, the latter an independent organisation, governed entirely by American citizens.

Branches exist in many of the principal cities of the British Empire and the United States, and it would seem that in Hongkong, where there is resident a large number of the citizens of the different English-speaking countries, an active branch might be opened and good results achieved.

I enclose my card and remain, Yours faithfully,

Hongkong, January 10th, 1924. E.S.U.

THE COLONY'S WATER SUPPLY.

The monthly water return gives the storage in the reservoirs supplying the City as 1,812 million gallons on the 1st January, compared with 1,059 million gallons on the same date last year. The consumption was 222 million gallons, against 189 million with the intermittent supply in force in December, 1922.

At Kowloon the storage is 330 million gallons, against 290 million last year, and the month's consumption, on full supply both years, was 66 million gallons last December against 54 million in December, 1922.

Thanks to the exceptional rainfall of late October, the Colony's Waterworks appear likely to meet all requirements for the present dry season. The City reservoirs holds about 5 months' supply, but as, with a consumption last month of 36 millions plus the waterworks supply, the storage only fell 88 millions, there seems also a fair prospect there, of carrying through on full supply.

THE SILK INDUSTRY STRIKE AT CANTON.

DR. SUN CONCEDES STRIKER'S DEMANDS.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the Generalissimo, in deference to the appeal of the merchants, manufacturers and workers engaged in the silk industry at Canton, has decided to abolish the monopoly given to the Kai Yuan Company some time ago for the collection of a like duty on raw silk goods. Instructions were issued at once to the Government to this effect and the Provincial Commissioner of Finance was accordingly instructed by the Governor to cancel the orders.

Thousands of workers in the silk industry who came to petition the Governor, slept on the pavilions in front and near the Governor's office throughout Tuesday night waiting for a definite answer from the authorities. A few thousands of these strikers came from the interior districts to join the crowd near the Governor's office. Traffic on the pavilions was greatly interrupted by the great crowd; the Canton Gazette says, but they kept very good order among themselves. The demonstration was participated in by seven guilds of the Kum Lun Tong, silk labourers' general quarters. The number of persons participating was estimated at 15,000.

"THE HEART LINE" AT THE WORLD THEATRE.

Mystery and romance are combined in "The Heart Line" shown for the first time at the World Theatre yesterday with Leah Baird starred. It is a picture of a popular novel by Gelett Burgess and cleverly combines a warning against fake spiritualists and others of that ilk with a love story of unusual heart appeal.

The story is too complicated to be told in this short space. Its central character is a girl who, after life has led her down many paths, falls in love with a man who does not return her affection. Instead of creating a scene, or committing suicide, this girl is strong and noble enough to find her happiness in doing everything she can to bring about his happiness. The mystery is introduced by a missing boy and efforts to locate him through communications with the spirit world. This enables the interesting exposure of the trick, in trade of a certain class of mediums.

The acting, direction, photography and atmosphere of "The Heart Line" is all that could be desired. Miss Baird has a sympathetic role that she plays with great finesse. Jerome Patrick, Ruth Sinclair, Frederick Vroom and Mrs. Charles C. Craig give particularly good impressions. "The Heart Line" remains until Saturday and should be found good, clean, vital entertainment for the whole family.

PROSPECTUS.

(a) The recent remarkable developments in building in this Colony have resulted in a demand for labour and building materials that has been unprecedented. Increased costs, consequent upon such demand, necessitate the adoption of means whereby not only may labour be saved but materials produced both quickly and economically. This Company is formed mainly for the purpose of providing plaster and gypsum products which are required in the construction of every building from the small house to the largest block of modern offices. "Simplex Plaster," which the Company proposes to manufacture in this Colony, is manufactured by a special process, and is at present only obtainable from abroad, and the Promoters are confident that it can be manufactured here and sold for a price considerably below that which the commodity commands in Hongkong at the present time. This plaster is now extensively used in building in this Colony, and is in fact, as experience has shown, extremely beneficial in the Far East and particularly in Hongkong, for it is impervious to white ants, does not chip owing to damp, and is practically fireproof, remaining unbroken and unaffected by heat unless of a temperature of 250 to 300 degrees centigrade.

(b) The Company has acquired as a going concern that branch of the business of THE CHINA AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPING COMPANY, LIMITED, which has been engaged in the manufacture of "Simplex Plaster." This purchase includes a piece of land of an approximate area of 41,000 square feet situated at Tsan Wan, together with the buildings, plant, machinery and equipment, thereon, the machinery being already assembled for the commencement of manufacture. The purchase price will be paid and satisfied by the allotment to THE CHINA AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPING COMPANY, LIMITED, of 15,000 shares of the Company credited as fully paid up. Furthermore the agreement with the Vendors provides that the Vendors will place with the Company all further orders for the supply of plaster by the Vendors.

The Contract for the acquisition of this business is dated the 4th day of January, 1924, and is made between THE CHINA AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPING COMPANY, LIMITED, of the one part and Denis Henry Blake as Trustee for the Company of the other part. A copy of the Contract can be inspected at the Registered Office of the Company or at the office of the Company's Solicitors.

(c) The minimum subscription on which the Directors may proceed to allotment is seven shares.

(d) No commission or promotion money is being paid by the Company.

(e) The Company will pay the preliminary expenses of and incidental to the formation and floating of the Company down to the time when it becomes entitled to commence business, and the estimated amount thereof is $5,000.00.

(f) The Articles of Association provide that the qualification of a Director is to be the holding of 500 shares in the Company, and that the remuneration of each of the Directors is to be $600.00 per annum.

(g) The Directors are interested in the promotion of the Company to the extent only that they or some of them are Directors of other companies with whom the Company may do business.

(h) Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the Company can be inspected at any time during business hours at the Registered Office of the Company or at the Company's Solicitors.

(i) A copy of the Company's Memorandum of Association is annexed to this Prospectus and forms part of it.

(j) Application for shares should be made upon the Form attached to this Prospectus, and sent to the Company's Bankers, together with a remittance of $2.50 per share, the amount of the deposit.

Where no allotment is made, the deposit will be returned in full, and where the number of shares allotted is less than the number applied for, a proportionate amount of the deposit will be returned.

(k) Prospectuses can be inspected at and Forms of Application obtained from the Company's Bankers, the International Banking Corporation, and at and from the Registered Office of the Company.

Dated the 5th day of January, 1924.

HONGKONG, JANUARY 11th, 1924.

HONGKONG UNIVERSITY.

The very interesting review of the progress of the Hongkong University during the past three years given at the Congregation on Wednesday by Sir WILLIAM BRUNYATE, the Vice-Chancellor, will have been read with much satisfaction by all who were associated with the institution in its infancy, from which it is now emerging with every sign of vigorous growth, though this satisfaction is mitigated, from the average taxpayer's point of view, by the prospect fore-shadowed of further heavy demands on the Colonial Treasury to meet the expanding needs of the institution. When the University was founded twelve years ago it was considered that the Government's financial responsibility would begin and end with the gift of the site and a contribution of ten thousand dollars a year as evidence of its sympathy and interest. In course of time the annual contribution grew to $20,000, and a couple of years ago it was increased to $60,000. The Government also, two years ago, gave the large capital sum of $1,000,000 to the Endowment Fund, as recommended by a Commission, which, set in 1920, and it further paid off all the University's debts amounting to another $700,000. This was done with the intention that the University shall not only be freed from all present debts and have its endowment restored intact, but shall also be assured of an adequate income for the future. It was, further, the hope and expectation of the Government, in thus guaranteeing the maintenance of the University, that it would encourage contributions from other sources, "especially for further expansions now unprovided for." It was thus made clear that there was no finality to the financial needs of a growing University. When the late Mr. E. H. SMITH, K.C., who was the Chairman of the Commission which inquired into the finances of the University, was subsequently honoured by the University with the degree of LL.D. (honoris causa) he remarked that the troubles that brought the Commission into being sprang from the fact that the University had given rein to ambitions and aspirations beyond the financial means it possessed at the time. It would be a sad thing for the University, he remarked, if it had not had these larger ambitions and aspirations. "But such expansions cannot be carried out by turning into debt. Funds are needed and will doubtless be forthcoming in time; it is a question of time which all interested in the University will desire to hasten. The Government has, for the present, done its part. The further money must come from the public, Chinese and European." He had no doubt that it would; but it has been coming very slowly so far. The University issued an appeal which took the form of a statement of the objects, the aspirations and the present measure of success of the University, an enumeration of its immediate and imperious needs, and of an attempt to outline the kind of programme to be followed in the future if it is to rise to the opportunities which the University authorities believe to lie before it. The University authorities have since had the satisfaction of being able to announce the magnificent donation of $250,000 from the Hon. Sir PAUL CHATER and one of $50,000 from Mr. FUNG PING SHAN, and an early prospect of substantial assistance from the Rockefeller Foundation, as well as at some time which cannot yet be clearly defined—some help from the funds coming to the Imperial Government from the Boxer Indemnity. But the point in the Vice-Chancellor's speech to which all this leads up is the remark that he is satisfied that "the time has come, or is rapidly coming, when additional contributions by the Colonial Government, carefully made for specific purposes, would be more than justified." We think most people will agree that the Colonial Government has done for the University as much as it is reasonable to expect, and it would not be impertinent to suggest that the time has come when additional contributions from Chinese public treasuries is justified. When the University was founded the Viceroy of the time at Canton subscribed two lakhs of dollars towards the Indemnity Fund, and started a subscription in Canton. The Chinese communities in various parts of China and also in other countries, such as Saigon, Australia, Penang and elsewhere, came forward with subscriptions. In view of the heavy expenditures facing the Government in the immediate future for the imperious needs of the Colony, we should like to see what the Americans call "a drive" for the funds needed for the expansion of the University made in the Chinese circles which supported the inception of the University, before any further call is made upon the public treasury of Hongkong. The success already achieved by the University, the fact that the graduates of the University are "getting a reputation as well-grounded, reliable men" ought to make an appeal as effective on Chinese Governments and public-spirited citizens as on the Government of Hongkong and public spirited citizens of the British Empire. We hope it will, for the advantages which accrue from the University are advantages from which China stands to gain immeasurably more than the Colony of Hongkong.

LAST NIGHT'S BLAZE. VALUABLE PROPERTY AT HILL ROAD DESTROYED BY FIRE.

A serious outbreak of fire occurred last night in Hill Road, West Point, just below the University Hostels, which resulted in two large houses occupied by well-to-do Chinese being gutted, and the servants' quarters of Nos. 45 and 47, Pokfulam Road, being seriously damaged by fire and water. The fire spread with alarming rapidity and caused considerable excitement in the neighbourhood. Fortunately, the occupants escaped from the burning buildings safely, but they lost most of their personal belongings. The fire is believed to have commenced on the first floor of No. 13, Hill Road, occupied by the proprietor of a Chinese cinema in Queen's Road West, and it is stated that a large number of films were stored on the first floor of this house, which are believed to have been the cause of the rapid spread of the fire.

The fire alarm was raised at about 9 o'clock and the Fire Brigade was very quickly on the spot; the fire appliances from the Kennedy Town new sub-fire station being the first to arrive, whilst three fire appliances arrived shortly afterwards from the Central Fire Station.

By the time the Brigade arrived both houses were burning furiously and the flames had spread to the servants' quarters of Nos. 45 and 47, Pokfulam Road, on the opposite side of an alleyway facing the gate of No. 13, Hill Road. Fortunately, there was little or no wind to carry the flames to adjoining property which, in that vicinity, is congested.

Lengths of hose were connected up with the hydrants in Pokfulam Road, and from these the firemen played streams of water onto the burning buildings. In the meantime nervous residents in adjoining houses were moving their belongings.

The firemen, under the supervision of Superintendent Brooks and Station Fire Master Moss, worked with a will and within an hour the danger of a very serious conflagration was averted. By 10.30 o'clock the flames were completely under control.

It is yet too early to estimate the damage, but it is safe to say that it amounts to many thousands of dollars. Both houses were substantial buildings built some 10 to 12 years ago, and they have been gutted. A quantity of valuable furniture has also been destroyed. The roofs of the servants' quarters of the two houses in Pokfulam Road have also been seriously damaged, and some damage has been caused to the two houses in question by water.

INCREASED FACILITIES FOR VISITING HONOLULU

The Pacific Mail Steamship Co. are in receipt of advice from their San Francisco Office that an arrangement has been entered into with the Los Angeles S.S. Co., the Maton Navigation Co., and the Oceanic Steamship Co., to carry through-passengers from and to the Orient and from Honolulu.
 This will undoubtedly be greatly to the advantage of passengers wishing to stay over at Honolulu either on the outward trip to the Orient or the homeward trip from the Orient, as it provides ample accommodation and greatly increased means of transportation from and to the Hawaiian Islands, the "Paradise of the Pacific."

Readers will remember the films shown recently in Hongkong of the beautiful scenery of the Islands, and will welcome the opportunity of visiting the various places of interest without the difficulty previously experienced in continuing the journey to the Pacific Coast at any time wished.

The Pacific Mail service now provides accommodation on four other lines from and to Honolulu and the Pacific Coast. The Togo Kisen Kaisha, the Maton Navigation Co., and the Oceanic Steamship Co., accepting Pacific Mail tickets to and from San Francisco and the Los Angeles S.S. Co. to and from Los Angeles Harbor. No passenger to the Islands now need wait more than a few days after viewing Hawaii to continue his trip to the Coast, and the journey from these Coast Ports may be made in the same way and on the same steamers.

The efforts of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. have resulted, after much difficulty in providing accommodation and facilities for their patrons which cannot fail to be appreciated by all who are contemplating visiting Honolulu either on their way to their homes in the United States or en route to European ports.

"PRESIDENT MADISON'S" STORMY TRIP

FATAL ACCIDENT TO A SEAMAN

The Admiral Line str. President Madison had a very stormy trip across the Pacific. She had to contend with westerly gales and heavy seas practically all the way from Victoria, B.C., to Yokohama, where she docked two days late. Several members of the crew, detailed to repair damaged gear during a storm, narrowly escaped being washed overboard. One of the men, W. Ahloft, subsequently succumbed to his injuries.
